Venn Promotes Tallamy, Jackson

WASHINGTON DC – Venn Strategies, LLC, a leading national public affairs and government relations firm, announced today it had promoted Brad Tallamy to Vice President and Laura Jackson to Associate Vice President.

Tallamy joined the firm in March as part of the firm’s growing health policy and advocacy group, where he works on an array of coalition efforts as well as with corporate clients to help them bolster their efforts with third party organizations. He joined the firm with nearly a decade of prior experience in policy and government relations roles, most recently at the National Patient Advocate Foundation, and also with Morgan Stanley Children’s Hospital in New York among others. Jackson, who has been with the firm five years, works with the firm’s economic and tax policy and advocacy group orchestrating advocacy programs and major policy-focused events for clients including the Employee-Owned S Corporations of America (ESCA) and Thrivent, the nation’s largest fraternal benefit organization.

“Brad and Laura have been key parts of our success, and these promotions reflect the growing value they add here at Venn,” said Venn Strategies founder and Chief Executive Officer Stephanie Silverman. “I have no doubt that they’ll continue to deliver results to our firm and our clients, and will support the firm’s continued growth in the years to come.”
