Venn Adds a Top Healthcare Lobbyist and Grows Its Talent Pool

WASHINGTON, DC – Venn Strategies, a nationally recognized public affairs and government relations firm twice named among the fastest-growing private companies in the United States (the “Inc. 5000”), announced that Margaret French has joined the firm as a Vice President in its Health practice.

French is a widely recognized health care lobbyist with more than a decade of expertise in Medicare, Medicaid, pandemic preparedness, graduate medical education and nonprofit health policy, among other things. A former member of the staff of Senator Joni Ernst (R-IA), she most recently was a senior member of the government relations team and PAC Director for America’s Essential Hospitals, the national association representing public and nonprofit hospitals and health systems serving a safety net role. She has also been the Director of Federal Affairs for America’s Physician Groups.

As Venn founder and CEO Stephanie Silverman noted, “Margaret’s dedicated and diverse experience in health care policy makes her ideally suited to navigate the growing health needs of the firm, especially at a time when federal health care spending is under scrutiny, and when the nation is working to operationalize critical learnings from the recent pandemic. Her no-nonsense style, deep grasp of health policy and broad relationships across Capitol Hill make her an important addition to our team, where we know she’ll bring the type of critical value to our clients and our firm.”

Along with French, Venn has added Noah Schloegel as a new Tax and Financial Services Associate, Dominic Levings as a new Critical Infrastructure Associate, and Emily Sabrosky as a Programs and Events Associate. Schloegel joins Venn from the US Department of Justice, where he served as an analyst and paralegal. Levings joins Venn from the United States Energy Association, where he served on the communications team. Sabrosky joins Venn from Edge Partnership, where she was a public relations & events specialist. Additionally, Teagan Polykett has been promoted to the position of Associate in the firm’s expanding Critical Infrastructure team.

Finally, the firm has also hired five new Client Services Associates: Adrienne Hallums, Charlie Lemke-Bell, Nadia Forougi, Isabella Nielsen, Rachel Pratt, and Audrey Sims.
